

Student Senate

Names Committee Chairmen; Approves Curricula Changes

by Bill Ferrell

President Susan Jackson called the October 27 meeting of the Student Senate to order with thirty-one senators present. The secretary read the minutes of the last meeting, and a roll sheet was passed around for senators to sign.

The chairmen of the senate committees were announced by President Jackson. They are as follows: Rules--David Hawley; Judicial--Sandra Lee; Financial--Appropriations--Carolyn Bennett; Publications--Tony Armstrong; Student Activities--Sandra Euforbia; College Development--David Pettigrew; Elections--Harvel Boyer; General Investigations--Tommie Walker; and Academic Affairs--Sherry Ballard. Each senator must join at least one committee, but may serve on two if he wishes.

The rules were suspended to allow Ken Gaskill, a member of the Academic Committee, to speak on the list of proposed core curriculum changes. The list included the dropping of English 200 and 201 from the humanities requirements and substituting two choices of several related courses, such as Art 103, Music 103, etc.; the addition of Physics 102 to the math-science requirements to form a physics course sequence; and the offering of either a sequence of two courses of American History or the current sequence of Western Civilization courses, either of which may be chosen in the social science division of the core. The Senate approved the proposals unanimously.

President Jackson announced that former Bill 15--The Declaration of Students Rights--has to be rewritten in the form of a resolution and submitted at the next Senate Meeting. The next two meetings will be held on November 10 and December

1. Senator David Pettigrew (O-C) introduced a new bill, the purpose of which is "to establish a code of laws to regulate student conduct at Georgia College." It was assigned to the Student Activities Committee for deliberation.

Freshman Elections Set

The freshman class members intending to run for the various class offices or the 1970-71 year turned in their petitions Wednesday, October 28. No one will run unopposed in this election as several people have petitioned for each office. To qualify each student had to have a 2.0 average.

There are four candidates running for the office of President. Cindi Tucker, a native of Columbus, Georgia, graduated from Hardaway High School. She is a home economics major and a member of the Clara Haslock Home Economics Club at Georgia College. Cindi feels that the freshman class can be number one in anything that they do if they are unified. She elaborated further, "Everybody must take their own share. One person can't run it all but with the help and support of all of the freshman class, no matter who wins, we can be number one."

Graduating from Campbell High school in Smyrna, Georgia, Ben Lyle, another candidate for freshman class president, is still undecided about his major. Ben is now serving as vice president of Ennis Dorm house council. He also represents Ennis Dorm at the sounding board meetings and is a member of Circle K. The promotion of unity within the freshman class and with the other classes is Ben's biggest goal. To do this he would like to organize rallies and have several freshman class sponsored activities. He would like to have a closer association with the day students and the boarding students.

Claiming Worth County as his home now, Tim Walker is a graduate of Middletown, Rhode Island High school. He is a music major here and has the distinction of being the composer of the newly adapted freshman class song. He is a member of the mixed chorus, Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, and is a member of Madrigal, the selected touring group taken from the mixed chorus. Tim is also the secretary for Ennis Dorm and is an active participant in the Lemon. When asked if he had any platform for his campaign he stated that he did not see any sense in reiterating what everyone else had said because he did not want to be boring.

Wanda Manning, elementary education major from Macon, Georgia, graduated from Jones County High School. She is the vice president of Bell dormitory. She would like to work with the freshman class to make it the best freshman class in history.

Four freshmen are running for the office of vice president. Wanda Herrington is from Covington, Georgia and graduated from Newton County High School. She is a home economics major and Bell dormitory's representative to Rec.

Bert Brown, an education major from Austelle, Georgia, graduated from Osborne High School. He is a member of Circle K at Georgia College.

Kathy Fain is an art major from Macon, Georgia where she graduated from Miller High school.

GC Follows Suit

On Tuesday October 27, 1970, the Day Student Organization under the supervision of Bobby Stevens and Steve Simpson, held a mock election for Governor and Lt. Governor for the state of Georgia. The mock election came exactly one week before most Georgians go to the polls to decide upon this state's next chief executive.

The DSO ballot carried only four names, those of the Republican nominees Hal Suit and Frank Miller for Governor and Lt. Governor and Jimmy Carter and Lester Maddox for the same offices. Space was provided for write-in candidates.

Turn out was light in as much as the DSO had not given much advance notice for the election and many students to this day are unaware that it was even held. In the race for Lt. Governor, Governor Lester Maddox lead his Republican opponent, Frank Miller, with a total of 212 votes to Miller's 173. This gave Maddox 54 percent of the vote, Miller 44 percent and the remaining 3 percent was divided among write-in candidates Julian Bond, G.P. Jones, and Paul Davis. In the Governor's race it was apparent that Georgia College follows Suit, for the former newsmen turned politician got 60 percent of the vote leaving Democrat Jimmy Carter with only 38 percent. Suit's total vote was 245 to Carter's 157. The remaining 3 percent in this race went to write-ins Carl Sanders

TV Re-View

By: Charles Oberleitner

There isn't a great deal happening this week on television. However for you David Brinkley fans next Tuesday promises to be a regular orgy of commentary. All three major networks will be covering the various elections across the nation; I recommend NBC and channel 2 for the most comprehensive results.

THURSDAY: 7:30; The Flip Wilson Show; NBC. Special guest stars Bill Cosby and Gina Lollobrigida.

8:30; Ironside; NBC. First of a two part murder mystery.

9:30; The Odd Couple; ABC. Staring Tony Randall and Jack Klugman.

10:00; The Immortal; ABC. Staring Christopher George.

11:30; The Creature Walks Among Us; Cha. 5. One of the all time classic horror flicks.

FRIDAY: 9:00; The CBS Friday Night Movie; Warning Shot. This excellent murder mystery supports an all star cast including, David Jansen, George Sanders, Lillian Gish and Keenan Wynn.

SATURDAY: 8:00 a.m.; The Popeye Club; Cha. 2.

9:30 a.m.; The Bugaloos; NBC.

10:30 a.m.; The Pink Panther; NBC.

11:00 a.m.; H.R. Pufnstuf; NBC.

12:00 p.m.; The Wonderful World of Johnathan Winters; NBC. Which only proves that children rate top flight entertainment too.

1:45 p.m.; College Football; ABC. The Georgia Bulldogs Vs. the Gamecocks of South Carolina.

5:00 p.m.; ABC's Wide World of Sports. A replay of Atlanta's brief moment of boxing history, the bout between Muhammad Ali and Jerry Quarry.

9:00 p.m.; NBC Saturday Night At the Movies; The War Wagon. Staring John Wayne and Kirk Douglas.

11:30 p.m.; Dracula; Cha. 11. The original thriller staring Bela Lugosi as the amorous count whose appetite includes an unusual thirst for blood.

SUNDAY: 1:00 p.m.; Pro Football; CBS. The Falcons Vs. The Chicago Bears.

8:30 p.m.; The Bill Cosby; NBC. Guest star Ivan Dixon.

11:30 p.m.; Experiment In Terror; Cha. 2. This 1962 film stars Glenn Ford and Lee Remick.

MONDAY: 7:30 p.m.; The Young Lawyers; ABC. Staring Lee J. Cobb.

8:30 p.m.; Here's Lucy; CBS. Staring Lucille Ball.

9:00 p.m.; Monday Night Movie; Cha. 2. Gambit With Shirley MacLaine and Michael Caine.

TUESDAY: The entire evening will be interrupted by the networks and local stations giving the latest results on the various races throughout the country. Channel 2 and NBC are your bets for the best coverage.

WEDNESDAY: 7:30 p.m.; The Men From Shiloh; NBC. This week Greer Garson makes her first appearance in a television series in an episode entitled "Lady at The Bar."

9:00 p.m.; Medical Center; CBS. Staring Chad Everett.

10:00 p.m.; San Francisco International; NBC.

Rec has some rather childish activities planned for the Rec Hall during Halloween. Ignore them.

Jeff Comer-Did You Help?

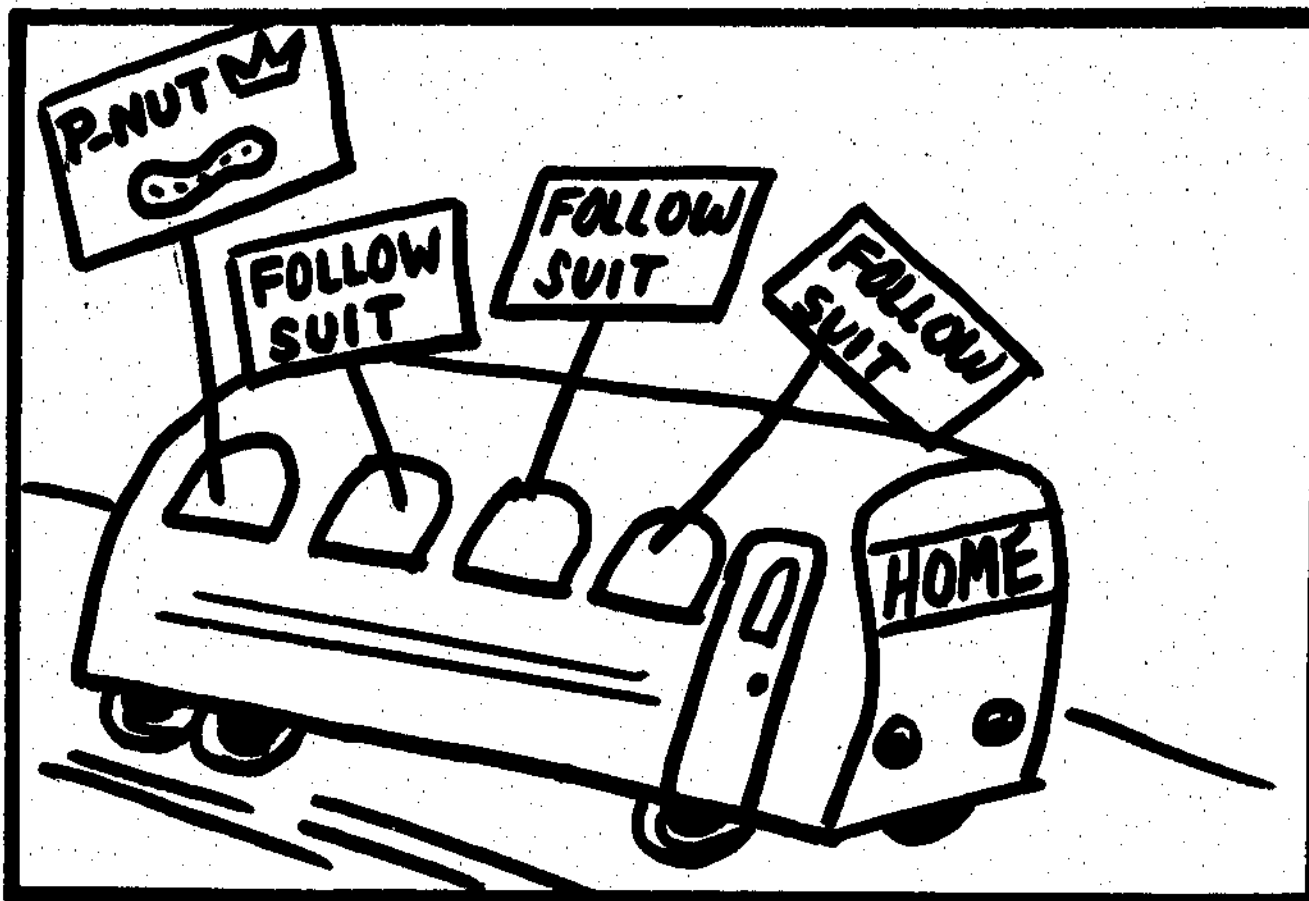

Jeff Comer, the six year old who was cheated out of his life by cancer, had made a plea to Georgia College to help and the college responded.

The article appeared in last week's Colonnade about the tragic story; an appeal to the students was made to give money to help Jeff out. There was a table set up in front of Parks to take up the collection.

There was $134.10 given the first day, $74.82 the second, and $64.18 the third. The Pub donated $78.00 to the cause, thus far making the grand total $273.10.

The fund drive will continue until Friday. All further donations may be taken to the cashier at the Comptroller's office, but be sure to tell them what the money is for. So go on students give a little. Their goal is $300, so if everyone gives just a little it will be reached.

The Day Student Organization and the family would like to thank all the friends, faculty and students for their help in this fund drive.

I Told You So

It is at this time with no undue humility that I, Charles William Oberleitner, acknowledge having made a rather large and some what conspicuous mistake. As you may or may not recall last week this column was devoted to the progress or lack of progress in acquiring recreational facilities for this campus. Well, with two inches of space left to fill and no more adjectives left to heap I fell into the classical trap of asking for public opinion. I closed my column with a heart felt plea for letters concerning student opinions on a rec hall, any rec hall.

Needless to say that my campus box has been less than bulging since last Thursday and the cries of "I told you so" are flying about my ears like so many mosquitos looking for a place to spread malaria. So since I laid one big bomb you might expect me to lay another by chastising you people for that matter. Secondly, why should I bitch at you for something that every other generation since the dawn of man is guilty of. Finally, I stand firm on my opinions of Bell Rec Hall and of my last column, even if I stand alone.

GC Halloween

Around Halloween, Georgia College goes ghostlier than usual. All the campus witches and warlocks begin letting their disguises slip in anticipation of the fun to come.

Why, tonight at 7:30 a bonfire will appear between Wells and Sanford. To the community, it will look as if Halloween were being celebrated in the usual way.

To further this illusion, Mr. Shadwell has planned a Halloween atmosphere for the cafeteria; the lights will be dimmed and jack-o-lanterns and tubs of apples will be put about. The menu may include "squeaky squash" or "fried bat wings."

If you're not going home this weekend to celebrate, Rec is sponsoring a "move-in". Just pop into Bell Rec Hall anytime between 8 A.M. and dorm closing time. The television will be tuned for horror shows, the ping pong table will be in action plus darts, and cards for all our Halloween friends.

GC FOLLOWS SUIT.

There are only four days left until the Georgia General Election on November 3. While the Democrats have not graced Georgia College as yet the Republicans are making their second appearance. Sherry Suit, whose father Hal visited Georgia College last Spring, will be on campus Friday at 11:00 a.m. in Russell Auditorium to speak to all interested persons.

Interested persons.

Once again you are reminded that the Chancellor of the University System has announced the suspension of all classes on election day so that students may return home to vote. Apparently a great many students are planning to do this in as much as Registrar Linton Cox reports that very few students have come to his office to fill out absentee ballots and that only one boy on campus has done so.

Follow Suit, Go Home

Tuesday, November 3, thousands of Georgians will get to the polls to cast their vote for Governor of this fair state. This right, provided for in the Constitution, assures citizens of a voice in the progress and actions of their community, be it local, state, or national.

The Board of Regents recognizes the importance of the gubernatorial election and since 1945 has followed the precedence of cancelling all classes on such days, in order that Georgia resident students who did not secure an absentee ballot may journey to their hometowns to vote. This should be respected by each student as a day to practice an American heritage too often neglected-not just one for sleep and relaxation.

Our choice for Governor is Republican candidate, Hal Suit, a former editorialist for WSB-TV news in Atlanta. One of the main issues of Suit's campaign is education. "Nowadays every high school graduate feels compelled to go on to higher education, even though he may not be college material." Suit feels that by stressing vocational training "we could probably knock down the high rate of unemployment." His opponent is Jimmy Carter a little people's peanut farmer.

Suit, in our opinion, is the only candidate who can raise Georgia out of the muck of backwoods, grassroot politics to the progressive heights it should be reaching. But no matter who you vote for, vote. As tomorrow's leaders you have the obligation to help direct Georgia in the right direction.

Editor's Note

The Editor and Business Manager will be out of town next week attending the Collegiate Press Convention in Minneapolis, therefore, this chance has been taken to cancel "The Colonnade" for next week so the staff will have the opportunity to study for the first time this quarter.

The Colonnade

The Colonnade, the student newspaper of Georgia College at Milledgeville, is published weekly except during examinations and holidays. It serves as a clearing house for student opinion and as a medium of communication between students and activities on campus.

"Orpheus Descending"

"What's that? Sounds Greek to me. Wasn't Orpheus in a myth? Didn't he go to Hades to win his wife back or something?"

"Oh yeah, but this is a play by Tennessee Williams."

"Who?"

"You know he wrote Cat On A Hot Tin Roof and A Street Car Named Desire, and both made him a Pulitzer Prize winner."

"But gee, I don't want to see a bunch of Old Greeks."

"It's not a Greek play, the title contains a Greek name. The play takes place in Glorious Hill, Mississippi."

"Oh, another of the Southern race themes."

"No, it hasn't got anything to do with that, it's an adventure story, a love story with poetic dialogue."

"Well, has it got any violent scenes or sex? I mean is it something my mother would take me to see?"

"There's no people running around without clothes, if that's what you mean. If the play was running at our nearby movie house, it would probably be rated R."

"I don't know if I want to go or not. How much would I have to shell out?"

"Nothing, just go to the SU starting November 2nd with your ID, and get your ticket. If you want to bring along a friend, tickets are a dollar, and will be sold a half hour before curtain time each night or you can write The G.C. Theatre, Box 587 for reserve tickets. There's even going to be a special group rating."

"Why great! Any stars playing in it?"

"Well, there are 15. Here's the list: Kathy Teasley, Harris Young, Rosemary Mullis, Jimmy Edwards, Judy Talmage, Barbara Lord, Betty Jo Hobbs, Joe Vincent, Massee Bateman, Mem Moore, Brigham Simmons, Charlotte Oglesbee, Lee Dennis, Thomas Hicks, and Jimmi Yancey."

"I'll see you one of the nights of the play, then."

Victory 1-0

The Georgia College Colonials finally chalked up their first victory of the season against Mercer University with a not so close 1-0. Mercer was the favorite for this game but judging from their performance it's a wonder, because GC ran them all over the field.

The game began at 3 p.m. Wednesday with GC kicking off. From that point on the ball was all ours. The game was played entirely at Mercer's defending goal except for twice when the Mercer team got into scoring position. Then Bobby Kelly picked them up and held them. The first half was scoreless. The Colonials made 10 attempts at the goal but missed all of them. In the third quarter we managed to get in the only but winning point. Jerry Whitmire dribbled down into the goal mouth with two of their gull-backs bearing down on him. He then made a great pass to Piro who sliced the ball into the corner of the net for our point. It was beautiful team work for them both.

Throughout the rest of the game the team tried repeatedly but couldn't get in another. In all there were about twenty-four tries. It was a good day on the field for them and those of you who missed it are the real losers. You would have been proud to see how well the team has shaped up. This was by far the best job the team has done yet and was something any team would be proud of.

Coach Bosserman rearranged the players a little and seems to have come up with the winning combination. The new set-up was achieved by moving up one of the fullbacks to a semi-halfback position. In doing this we strengthened our middle section which is vital in both offense and defense. Rich Hight played forward fullback in this game and proved that it works successfully.

As it stands there are eleven members on the soccer team. They are in their respective positions: Forwards, Tom Rainey, Joe Beicher, Don Rausger, Jimmy Wildman, Ralph Piro; Half back, Jerry Whitmire, Steve Blair, Claude Powell; Fullbacks, Rich Hight, Mike Bryans, Mike Pizzarno, Tim Fogarty. The other linemen are Dave Perkins, Mike Allen, Tommy Walker, John Chandler. Goalie is played by Bobby Kelly. These seventeen boys have worked hard to achieve the precision team work that this game shows they have.

This Saturday the Colonials meet Tennessee Temple here on our home field at 2 p.m. Last year they beat our team by a narrow 3-2. If you're laying bets though you should get a least 3 to one odds on Georgia College; this one should be in the bag. Then we're on the road next Tuesday to Charleston, South Carolina, to meet the Citadel team. This one will be a close one, but if the boys can do as well as they have been we have a good chance. Also in two weeks we again meet Mercer on their field. This game will be their homecoming and if we can get it together we should get a caravan to go cheer the boys on there. It's only thirty miles from here and would be really great to go. All people interested in going write in to campus box 1649 and put whether you have a car so we can try to get this going. This is a good chance for you J.A.'s to compete for the dorm trophy in participation.

Colonials Gamble

The Colonial Athletic Club, a group comprised of varsity lettermen, is organizing their program for the 1970-71 term. This year they plan activities to promote the participation and spirit on campus. At present there are plans for raffling a tennis racket that will get under way soon. Also they are trying to get a colonial costume and a standard to take to the games.

The organization is a select group of lettermen who formed last Fall. Their purpose is recognition for the lettermen to promote scholarship for athletes, uphold tradition, and point up the worth and proper place for athletics at GC. The officers are Ann Wall, President, Sandy Lee, Vice President, Ellen Micks, Sec-Tres., and Harriet Criswell, Historian.

The raffie will be under way shortly. Donations will be a quarter per chance. Watch for further information about this around campus.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I wish to express my appreciation to Mr. Clyde Moore for giving us a public example of the kind of thing that I think is going to be needed in large quantities in the years to come to live in this old world with more and more people.

Mr. Moore embarked on a course of action while his enthusiasm and interest was still high without first analyzing and planning himself altogether out of the notion of any kind of action. He then in his initial analysis of the functioning of the academic council behaved openly and honestly as an individual personality and, finally, and probably more significantly, he continued to behave openly and honestly when his course of action revealed that things were not as he initially thought. I would commend to students and faculty alike this course of action under the heat of interest accompanied with an honesty of evaluation which shows that the purpose of the action is to get something done, not to show that someone is doing something.

Sincerely,
David G. Baarda

Yeas And Booze

By: Clyde Moore

To those of you who made it to the game Wednesday, you got a real reward; to the rest of you, you missed a great game. But the team was really proud of the turnout. Those that were there did a great job of cheering and hasseling which means a lot to the players and can influence the outcome.

What interests me is the people who weren't there. Now, know there are more J.A.'s running around than were there, and there are surely more of our "campus leaders" than showed up, and there are a whole lot more professors than showed up. Where were you? I realize that classes do run that period so some of you have that for an excuse. I have to consider extenuating circumstances for some too. But it seems like that leaves roughly 1500 students unaccounted for. People can complain all they want. I do all the time. This school has not got enough pride in itself as a school to pull together 100 people for a group effort for anything. Even during slipper there are probably not that many who really work. granted there are a lot more than that who get out there and fool around and have a good time but the work part is what I mean.

But rather than just complain, let us propose a solution. Competition for attendance? That doesn't work. There is already a contest for a dorm trophy that doesn't do any good for attracting people because no one stresses it. Make it mandatory? Never get off the ground. I think the only solution is either to hire fans or throw out all the student body and get new ones. That's the only way. I left out one, I forgot. We could try to show people that in order to make this school better, or best, we must each and everyone take pride in every aspect of our college life. Well I can assure you that every member of the Colonnade staff has tried once or twice already. . . . now it's up to you. Think about it, huh?

Mrs. Catherine Thurston

Mrs. Catherine E. Thurston, assistant professor of Education joined the staff in June. Starting out to be a lab technician, she obtained her Bachelor's degree from Georgia State College for Women.

Mrs. Thurston has had 20 years of experience in the public schools, 12 of which were in the junior high schools. She has also been principal of a small rural school, and done research for the Federal government which resulted in the Progress 13 Reading Center.

Since she also obtained her Master of Education degree from this school when it was Women's College of Georgia, Mrs. Thurston does not feel like a newcomer to G.C. She enjoys teaching, and says that the faculty is very supportive and helpful.

Mrs. Thurston represents the college on the Elementary Commission of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

Mrs. Doris Moody

Mrs. Doris C. Moody, a part time instructor in biology, is the new teacher in Microbiology. She is from Eatonton, Georgia. She received her Associate of Arts at Emory University, Bachelor of Science at University of Georgia, Masters at Medical College of Georgia at Augusta.

Mrs. Moody came to Georgia College because her husband is a physician at the State Hospital. She wishes to continue teaching part time as she has two young children. She has a girl, Paige, 7, and a son Kyle, 6.

Mrs. Moody likes Georgia College very much. The students she has come in contact with are very polite to her. Along with teaching, Mrs.

Mrs. Thurston

Moody does some cooking and sewing, of the two cooking is her favorite.

Mrs. Edithgene Sparks

Mrs. Edithgene Sparks, Assistant Professor of Education comes to us from University of South Florida in Tampa. She has lived in Georgia for several years and likes the state very much. She has a degree in Nursing from University of Cincinnati, a Bachelor of Education from Oglethorpe, and a Masters degree from Emory. She also taught at Oglethorpe and Emory.

Mrs. Sparks was very pleased with Georgia College; she likes the beautiful old buildings. She likes a small school, where there is more communication between professor and student.
